
Scope

The Indian Competition Law Review (“ICLR”) is an annual journal, published in the month of February each year. ICLR strives to provide a platform for discussion of international as well as national developments in the field of competition law. ICLR regularly publishes contributions from experienced practitioners whilst giving due importance to the work of early career academicians and law students at the same time. Each issue contains:

- i. Articles, which analyze topics of permanent interest from major national jurisdictions as well as contemporary international issues on competition law and policy (5,000-10,000 Words including footnotes)
- ii. Short Notes, which cover topical recent developments in competition law (2,000- 5,000 Words including footnotes)
- iii. Case Comments on recent or landmark cases, suggesting a change in policy or interpretation, related to competition law (1,500- 2,000 Words including footnotes)
